Your FAFSA application has been selected for review in a process called "Verification".

You are required to provide ONE of the following documents to the Office of Financial Aid that indicates your high school completion status.

- A final, official high school transcript that shows the date when the diploma was awarded.
- An official transcript that shows the student passed a State-authorized examination (GED test, HiSET, TASC, or other State-authorized examination) in which the State recognizes as the equivalent of a high school diploma.
- If you completed your secondary education in a foreign country, the “secondary school leaving certificate” or other similar document.
- An official academic transcript that indicates you successfully completed at least a two-year program that is acceptable for full credit toward a bachelor's degree (credits do not have to be acceptable at Santa Fe University of Art and Design).
- If you are a homeschooled student from a state where state law requires you to obtain a secondary school completion credential for homeschool (other than a high school diploma or its recognized equivalent), a copy of that credential.
- If you are a homeschooled student from a state where state law does not require you to obtain a secondary school completion credential for homeschool (other than a high school diploma or its recognized equivalent), a transcript or the equivalent, signed by your parent or guardian, that lists the secondary school courses you completed and includes a statement that you successfully completed a secondary school education in a homeschool setting.
